The story of everyday heroes should be published on the government news website. Our society needs the news about everyday heroes, here are six reasons in my opinion. First, the spirit of everyday heroes can encourage more people who are in trouble. Second, the culture of everyday heroes is good for education, because it helps the young people to establish the right values. Third, everyday heroes are not far from our lives, everyone can be a hero in different situations and different professions, and they must be encouraged. Fourth, government news can help strengthen the impression of everyday heroes, and it's good for citizens to know more about them. Fifth, publishing the news about everyday heroes can promote the establishment of hero culture and is good for our society. Finally, the society needs more warm, positive forces to encourage more people who struggle with difficult situations and overcome all difficulties in our lives. Based on the above reasons, more news about everyday heroes should be published so that more people can know about them and make our society better.
